Office: Monroe Hall 471

Office Hours: Tuesdays 1-3pm, and by appointment

COURSE DESCRIPTION

“Democracy is a system in which parties lose elections.” – Adam Przeworski

This course will explore such a system: how candidates and parties come to lose (and occasionally win) elections, with an emphasis on congressional and presidential campaigns. We will explore macro-level determinants of electoral outcomes, as well as political behavior of individual Americans. Each week covers a different topic, with readings designed to highlight controversies or debates in the political science literature.

You should expect this course to take 2–2.5 hours of class time a week and an average of 5–7 hours of work per week outside of class.

Learning Outcomes

As a result of completing this course, students will:

- Learn the fundamental factors that affect electoral outcomes in the United States
- Be able to predict the likely outcome of future elections
- Learn about the effects of elections on public policy and other political outcomes
- Learn how social scientists ask and answer interesting questions about elections and political behavior
- Become a savvy consumer of election information in perpetuity

Course Prerequisites

PSC 1002: Introduction to American Politics and Government

Materials

There is one required book for this course:

- Sides, John, Daron Shaw, Matt Grossman, and Keena Lipsitz (2023). Campaigns and Elections (4th Edition, 2022 Election Update). New York: W.W. Norton.
 - NOTE: the non-2022 Election Update for the 4th Edition is acceptable, but will have minor deviations from the main text.
 - Readings referred to as C&E in the course schedule

Other materials will be available on Blackboard via PDF and linked in the schedule below.

General Expectations and Policies

Attendance/Participation: Your attendance and participation are mandatory (see below for specific evaluation criteria). Sign-in sheets will be present at the beginning of class.

Reading: This class will have a lot of reading, much of it from leading quantitative scholars in political science. It is expected that some of the more technical components of the readings will be beyond your current level of understanding. That is okay! Just do your best and come to class with questions; as long as you understand the argument, we can fill in the details later.

Electronics: Laptops, tablets, and smartphones are not allowed for use in class (those with accommodations requiring a laptop should register through DSS). Years of education research gives quality evidence that individual technology in the classroom produces worse learning outcomes. Leave them in your bags/on silent.

Late Work: Late work will only be accepted for 48 hours after the due date and will be deducted 10 percentage points. Extensions must be requested well in advance of the due date and are not guaranteed to be granted. Please notify me of any last-minute emergencies.

Collaboration: You are encouraged to talk to your classmates about this course and politics generally. When you submit your work, however, it should be the product of your own effort. If you collaborated with others, please give attribution accordingly.

Artificial Intelligence: Artificial Intelligence (AI) technologies continue to be developed, advanced, and adopted in an increasing number of contexts and industries. While the technology undoubtedly has several industry benefits, both potential and realized, its role in the classroom appears conditional. This is a course about acquiring a reflexive intuition about elections; AI can only go so far in training that instinct. Many of the policies of this course are intentionally made to encourage independent thinking, but there will still be instances when AI usage may be possible or even useful. Therefore, I have the following expectations regarding AI usage in this class:

- You MAY use AI to:
 - Check spelling, grammar, or identify synonyms
 - Generate ideas and identify sources
 - Rephrase sentences/reorganize writing that you have already drafted
 - Recommend tweaks to outlines you have drafted yourself
- You may NOT use AI to:
 - Write entire sentences/paragraphs without citation

If I suspect AI usage outside the bounds of acceptable use, I will ask, and in some instances may request you come to office hours to check your comprehension of your own writing. The grade you receive will be proportionate to your own individual effort.

Changes: This syllabus is subject to change with prior notification.

Evaluation

- Attendance/Participation (10%): Attendance will be evaluated as the sum total of lectures attended, as evidenced by the sign-in sheet. Participation can take many forms: asking/responding to questions in class, discussing topics on the Blackboard discussion forums, coming to office hours, etc.
- Quizzes (25%): Short, unannounced, in-class reading comprehension quizzes will be administered at a roughly weekly cadence. Full credit will be given upon reaching a certain score threshold (conditional on quiz length), partial credit otherwise. The lowest 4 grades are dropped. Make-up quizzes will not be administered.
- Campaign Deep Dive (20%): This will be the "practical" portion of the course, where you will choose an ongoing electoral contest (congressional, state, or local), and become an expert on it over the course of the semester. There will be multiple check-in assignments throughout the semester. See separate assignment document for details.
- Midterm Exam (15%): An in-person, pen-and-paper midterm exam will be administered, covering all material covered until that point.
- Final Exam (30%): An in-person, pen-and-paper, cumulative final exam will be administered. The exam will have two halves covering the first and second portions of the class (pre/post midterm).
 - Progress Adjustment: If you score higher on the first half than you did on the midterm, your midterm grade will be adjusted to be equal to halfway between the midterm and first-half final grade. For example, if you score a 70 on the midterm and a 90 on the first half of the final, your midterm grade will be changed to 80.

Grade Schema: I will round up at 0.5 (e.g. 89.5 = A-).

Range	Grade	Range	Grade
94-100%	A	74-76%	C
90-93%	A-	70-73%	C-
87-89%	B+	67-69%	D+
84-86%	B	64-66%	D
80-83%	B-	60-63%	D-
77-79%	C+	59% or below	F

University Policies

Academic Integrity Code

Academic integrity is an essential part of the educational process, and all members of the GW community take these matters very seriously. As the instructor of record for this course, my role is to provide clear expectations and uphold them in all assessments. Violations of academic integrity occur when students fail to cite research sources properly, engage in unauthorized collaboration, falsify data, and otherwise violate the Code of Academic Integrity. If you have any questions about whether particular academic practices or resources are permitted, you should ask me for clarification. If you are reported for an academic integrity violation, you should contact Conflict Education and Student Accountability (CESA), formerly known as Student Rights and Responsibilities (SRR), to learn more about your rights and options in the process. Consequences can range from failure of assignment to expulsion from the University and may include a transcript notation. For more information, refer to the CESA website at students.gwu.edu/code-academic-integrity or contact CESA by email (cesa@gwu.edu) or phone (202-994-6757).

Observance of Religious Holidays

Students must notify faculty during the first week of the semester in which they are enrolled in the course, or as early as possible, but no later than three weeks prior to the absence, of their intention to be absent from class on their day(s) of religious observance. If the holiday falls within the first three weeks of class, the student must inform faculty in the first week of the semester. For details and policy, see provost.gwu.edu/policies-procedures-and-guidelines.

Use of Electronic Course Materials and Class Recordings

Students are encouraged to use electronic course materials, including recorded class sessions, for private personal use in connection with their academic program of study. Electronic course materials and recorded class sessions should not be shared or used for non-course related purposes unless express permission has been granted by the instructor. Students who impermissibly share any electronic course materials are subject to discipline under the Student Code of Conduct. Contact the instructor if you have questions regarding what constitutes permissible or impermissible use of electronic course materials and/or recorded class sessions. Contact Disability Support Services at disabilitysupport.gwu.edu if you have questions or need assistance in accessing electronic course materials.

Academic Support

Academic Commons. Academic Commons is the central location for academic support resources for GW students. To schedule a peer tutoring session for a variety of courses visit go.gwu.edu/tutoring. Visit academiccommons.gwu.edu for study skills tips, finding help with research, and connecting with other campus resources. For questions email academiccommons@gwu.edu.

GW Writing Center. GW Writing Center cultivates confident writers in the University community by facilitating collaborative, critical, and inclusive conversations at all stages of the writing process. Working alongside peer mentors, writers develop strategies to write independently in academic and public settings. Appointments can be booked online at gwu.mywconline.

Support for Students In and Outside the Classroom

Disability Support Services (DSS), 202-994-8250. Any student who may need an accommodation based on the potential impact of a disability should contact Disability Support Services at disabilitysupport.gwu.edu to establish eligibility and to coordinate reasonable accommodations.

Student Health Center, 202-994-5300, 24/7. The Student Health Center (SHC) offers medical, counseling/psychological, and psychiatric services to GW students. More information about the SHC is available at healthcenter.gwu.edu. Students experiencing a medical or mental health emergency on campus should contact GW Emergency Services at 202-994-6111, or off campus at 911.

GW Campus Emergency Information

GW Emergency Services: 202-994-6111. For situation-specific instructions, refer to GW's Emergency Procedures guide.

GW Alert. GW Alert is an emergency notification system that sends alerts to the GW community. GW requests students, faculty, and staff maintain current contact information by logging on to alert.gwu.edu. Alerts are sent via email, text, social media, and other means, including the Guardian app. The Guardian app is a safety app that allows you to communicate quickly with GW Emergency Services, 911, and other resources. Learn more at safety.gwu.edu.

Protective Actions. GW prescribes four protective actions that can be issued by university officials depending on the type of emergency. All GW community members are expected to follow directions according to the specified protective action. The protective actions are Shelter, Evacuate, Secure, and Lockdown (details below). Learn more at safety.gwu.edu/gw-standard-emergency-statuses.

- Shelter: Protection from a specific hazard. The hazard could be a tornado, earthquake, hazardous material spill, or other environmental emergency. Specific safety guidance will be shared on a case-by-case basis.
 - Action: Follow safety guidance for the hazard.
- Evacuate: Need to move people from one location to another. Students and staff should be prepared to follow specific instructions given by first responders and University officials.
 - Action: Evacuate to a designated location. Leave belongings behind. Follow additional instructions from first responders.
- Secure: Threat or hazard outside of buildings or around campus. Increased security, secured building perimeter, increased situational awareness, and restricted access to entry doors.
 - Action: Go inside and stay inside. Activities inside may continue.
- Lockdown: Threat or hazard with the potential to impact individuals inside buildings. Room-based protocol that requires locking interior doors, turning off lights, and staying out of sight of corridor windows.
 - Action: Locks, lights, out of sight. Consider Run, Hide, Fight.

Classroom emergency lockdown buttons. Some classrooms have been equipped with classroom emergency lockdown buttons. If the button is pushed, GWorld Card access to the room will be disabled, and GW Dispatch will be alerted. The door must be manually closed if it is not closed when the button is pushed. Anyone in the classroom will be able to exit, but no one will be able to get in.

Acknowledgement

All classes are the product of collaboration, learning, and refinement. Special thanks to Nicole Bartels, Danny Hayes, Chris Tausanovitch, John Sides, Lynn Vavreck, and Chris Warshaw for their teaching materials used in the development of this course.
